

THE ANTARCTIC ENVIRONMENTAL DATA CENTRE (AEDC) - POSTER PRESENTATION

HR Campbell

British Antarctic Survey, Cambridge, United Kingdom

The AEDC is the UK's National Antarctic Data Centre, and is also a Designated Data Centre for the UK's Natural Environment Research Council (NERC). The AEDC works with other Data Centres throughout NERC, and the Joint Committee on Antarctic Data Management, to increase accessibility and usability of scientific data from the Antarctic.

The AEDC is currently focussing on increasing the visibility of the UK's Antarctic Data through increasing the number of datasets listed on the Antarctic Master Directory, and through investigating the use of new tools and techniques for integrating and visualising data through international web-based data portals and databases.
